Community and War Chest Drive Still Goes On

An over-subscription to the nation-wide war chest campaign under way at present in thousands of American communities not only was urged but was predicted by Dr. John R. Mott, world-famous traveler, youth leader, and international chairman of War Prisoners Aid, during his recent visit to California.

Funds needed for war relief this year have reached an unprecedented high. The size of our armed forces has increased. Famine and pestilence have overrun Europe's helpless countries. Human misery has never reached such depths.

And as the war is expanded will not these human needs be even greater? Our armed forces still are increasing—the USO, the United Seamen's Service, must expand accordingly. American war prisoners alone now total nearly 25,000—War Prisoners Aid must be prepared to serve this legion of men. United Nations successes multiply rather than decrease relief and welfare problems; as enslaved countries are freed, their peoples become dependent on American generosity. Allied relief agencies must be ready to extend a helping hand.

In this picture of world upheaval, home front war victims must not be overlooked. We must assure America's fighting men that our communities remain sound and safe for their families. Chest-supported recreational organizations, character-building agencies, and child-caring services combat juvenile delinquency. Health services in congested areas fend off epidemics, recreational services have expanded programs to assure harmonious community relationships.

So, as this first nation-wide war chest campaign, which spans the world in humanitarian services, nears its finish, it is up to each American to consider Dr. Mott's suggestion to put forth still more money not only to fill the local chest, but to over-subscribe the goal. Every dollar will hasten the step of United Nations armies marching toward victory.

Grammar P.-T. A. Holds Interesting Meeting Tuesday

The Campbell Grammar School P.-T. A. met Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 2, in the kindergarten room.

The meeting was opened with the singing of patriotic songs, "The United States of America" and "America," followed with the pledge of allegiance led by Miss Wilma Rothwell.

The president, Mrs. C. P. Klassen, extended a welcome and asked that a neighbor introduce new mothers present for the first time.

Red Cross work was issued by Mrs. Rex Fuller, the war service chairman.

Membership chairman Mrs. LBen Howard, reported a total membership of 250 with more to come in. Thanks were expressed to all who had joined the association.

Mrs. Fuller reported for the district assigned to the group for solicitation for the War Chest campaign.

Mrs. W. F. Grattan reported for the evening class in Family Relations stating that those who are attending are enjoying the class and teacher Mrs. Martha Pitman.

Mrs. Earl Booker, chairman of the day, introduced Mrs. Lillian Voge, local librarian, who displayed children's books and compared them with books that she had to read as a child.

Mrs. Dana Thomas, the speaker of the day, gave many ideas on a happy home and stressed spiritual guidance in the home.

The second and low third grade mothers were hostesses for the social hour with refreshments served in the cafeteria.

Returns in Chest Campaign Under Quota Set

Returns of the War and Community Chest so far reported amount to a little over $4000, with a few small amounts still out.

With a quota set at $5500 the pledges are not 75 per cent of that amount.

Several people have reported that they had not been called upon. If working hours or other reasons are the cause, contributions may be left at the Campbell Water company office, with E. E. Lanphear, of Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, campaign manager, or a call to any one of these will bring a solicitor.

Frank Cutting is offering for forty-five dollars a painting, the proceeds of its sale to go to the chest fund. Any one interested in acquiring a valuable oil painting should investigate this offer.

Sgt. Ralph V. Pilgrim of San Jose but known to many here as he graduated from Campbell high school in 1934, has recently graduated from the aerial gunnery and fire control school at Wendover Field, Utah.

Incorporation Discussed at Chamber Meeting

Incorporation of Campbell was discussed at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday and a resolution was adopted advocating incorporation.

The matter of retention of the night watchman was the matter of immediate moment as Frank Weeks had tendered his resignation under his present compensation.

A committee including C. P. Klassen, B. B. Botts and Anthony Raffanti was named to try to secure from the business houses the additional pledges to retain Weeks until action on incorporation has been taken.

The long proposed increase in the area of the fire district was favorably considered and active steps will be taken toward its consummation.

Ira Grim was appointed chairman of a nominating committee with Dan Clark, David Ribble and Anthony Raffanti to present names for office of president, vice president, secretary and five directors at the next meeting, set for Nov. 16.

Mrs. William L. Young, sister of Mrs. A. B. Gilson, who has been visiting here, will leave Monday for Los Angeles and from there entrain for her home at Rock Island, Ill.

The next meeting of Sigma Sigma will be held at the home of Mrs. John Pollard on Carlyn avenue Tuesday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. H. F. Evans is co-hostess with the Misses Helen Buck and Elsa Fetch. The evening will be devoted to Red Cross work under the direction of Mrs. David Sanders.

Kiwanians Hear Noted Traveller And Speaker

Rev. Frank Woodward who is on a speaking tour of California addressed the Kiwanis club Tuesday describing life and conditions in the Philippines as he knows it through 35 years of work and residence there.

He stated that from a start of two churches his work progressed to 80 churches and chapels.

The islands are rich in natural resources with a great amount of undeveloped areas. He said that the Japanese had looked with envy on those islands for years and had planned for the time when they would be independent to acquire possession.

The Moros are largely Moslems and still practice polygamy.

Rev. J. H. Bennett presented the speaker.

William H. Weeks, formerly of the Shasta Dam club, was inducted by Ira Abbott as a new member.

Next week Joseph Ostle will discuss "War Transportation," with Dr. W. R. Morgan, chairman.

Among former Campbell high students home on furlough last week was Donald Rice. He came from Campbell, Breckenridge, Ky. and says he has been seeing quite a bit of the country in the nine months he has been in the Army. He has been in twenty-four states to date, but says none of them looks as good as California. He was lucky to get home when quite a few of the local boys were on furlough, too.

Cutting Sells Corner Property To Barbanos

The lot and building occupied by D. J. Decker's market, J. A. Arnold's meat market, and the Waltrip Creamery has been purchased by Louis and Ernest Barbanos of Rincon avenue from T. A. Cutting, the transaction having been handled through the Guy Farley real estate office. There will be no change in the occupancy of the building so far as present plans go.

The active business corner is part of the quarter section of land purchased from the Spaniard Galindy by Benjamin Campbell in 1851. Later Mr. Campbell had to re-purchase it both from a squatter and finally from the United States government to perfect his title. Since that date the title has passed in succession to W. H. Swope, to Dr. C. N. Cooper, to T. A. Cutting, and now to the Barbanos.

The deed to C. N. Cooper, dated Oct. 20, 1890, provided for the extension of Central avenue to the north. Formerly there had been a street only to the south. His deed extended north 300 feet to the land now occupied by the Congregational church. On the corner the doctor built his residence and his office, and lived there until his death in 1924.

Six Adult Classes Now Being Held At High School

Six adult education classes are now being held at Campbell Union High school several evenings each week and the courses are proving very popular according to Principal W. H. Van Dyke.

Considerable interest is being developed by Miss Martha Pitman in her class in home and community relations held each Monday evening from 7:15 to 9:15.

Woodworking classes are being held on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 and anything from cabinets to chicken pens can be made under the direction of M. F. Hughes.

A physical education class for men meets Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 under the direction of Coach Walter Hill; the Americanization class meets on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 9, Miss Helen Jarratt, instructor; clothing class conducted by Mrs. Agnes Roberts meets on Thursdays from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.; and Tom Martin conducts a farm machinery repair class.

Two classes in Americanization are conducted each Tuesday and Thursday evening at the Almaden school under Campbell high school supervision with Mrs. Evelyn Teal and M. F. Susanj as instructors.

Cambrian Cub Pack Entertained At Costume Party

Cub Pack No. 10 of Cambrian school district had its first get-together for fall at a masquerade party at the Malcolm Blue ranch on White Oaks avenue last Saturday night.

Prize for the best costume was won by Charles Keesling. Walter Dahms, of the Campbell Fire department was a guest, giving the boys some excellent information and also assisted Fred Weltz, a den dad, and Mr. Blue in conducting boxing and other games.

Refreshments of doughnuts and fruit punch were served to the following Cubs and several of the parents:

Gerald Avery, Billy Blue, Bobby Blue, Frank Calabre, Socrates Changras, David Doerr, Richard Farnham, Robert Graham, Garnet Herbert, Jack Higuerra, Howard Kaeding, Charles Keesling, Warren Nelson, Gary Richardson, Bobby Reynolds, Stanley Sinn, Billy Tollison, Harry Walters, Francis Weltz. Don Reed, an active Cub, was unable to be present.

Tuesday evening a very successful Cub pack meeting of Cambrian Cubs and parents was held at the school.

While Bill Beard, one of the den chiefs, entertained some twenty-five boys, C. S. Beard conducted a pow-wow for the adults, planning future pack meetings and especially emphasizing the "penny arcade" which the pack will sponsor early in December as a means of raising money for a Cub flag.

Neckerchiefs and Bob-cat pins were presented to twenty boys, a gift of the Cambrian Dad's club, which is sponsor of the group.

Two Stores In Campbell Change Hands

H. M. Shadle, who has operated a drug store in Campbell since 1928, this week is taking inventory preparatory to the sale of his business on Nov. 6 to L. C. Fairchild of San Jose.

Shadle opened his drug store in the building on the corner of Central and Campbell avenue 15 years ago and in 1933 moved to the present location where he has served the public continuously since that time.

Another place of business sold last week was the Ray Mathis store to G. W. Walton of Los Gatos.

Mathis has operated the Red and White store on East Campbell avenue for nine years and retires to supervise his various rental properties in this area.

Walton comes here from Turlock where he operated a Red and White store for six years.

Arnold Grim, now Captain Arnold Grim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Grim, is a maintenance division officer in the air corps at Warner Robins Field, Georgia.

WEATHER "RETURNS"

The strange "disappearance" of the weather which occurred on that certain December 7, has finally been solved. The War Department has returned it unharmed. Thus one of the deep mysteries of modern times has been cleared up.

Of course, the sun has stayed on the job right along, the rains have fallen pretty much as they should and the winds have blown—but not officially. As far as Uncle Sam was concerned the weather had ceased to exist.

That's all changed now. The weather is ours once again to enjoy or to complain about. Undoubtedly, it will resume its proper place in the drawing-room conversations. Come to think of it, just what have people been talking about since the war began?

DO IT YESTERDAY

Have you ever tried doing things yesterday? Impossible? Not at all. "Yesterdays" are just so many "todays" that have outgrown the clock.

What did you intend to do yesterday? Did you intend to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross—one of the 90,000 pints needed every week? Did you intend to write a letter to someone in the service? Did you intend to buy more War Bonds? Did you intend to put your finances in order and pay off old debts?

Something more than intentions are necessary to accomplish these things. The only way you'll do them is to let your conscience be heard above the din of excuses. That pint of blood may save a life, that letter will cheer up a service man or woman, those Bonds will buy the weapon the boys must have, and those debts won't be hanging discouragingly over your head indefinitely.

It will take only an hour of your time to give that blood and your Red Cross will make it a pleasant experience. It will take less than an hour to dash off that cheery note. The postoffices will supply V-mail stationery for overseas mail. It will take only a little determination and self-sacrifice to do the other things.

Now if you do these things right away—right now—you'll find that in twenty-four hours—or less—you did them yesterday!

TOJO TELLS 'EM

Squat, squint-eyed Premier Tojo has proved that when it comes to "double talk" he is an artist par excellence. His recent speech to the Japanese Diet was an outstanding contribution to the war—of words, and was a remarkable exhibition of "hot-and-cold" oratory.

Tojo described the war situation as "complicated"—whatever that may mean. Then he declared that the Allies who were "defeated in the beginning" are now "trying to overwhelm our nation." Very lucid.

But was Tojo worried? Not at all. Everything was o. k. And why wasn't he worried? Did Japan have a secret weapon that would annihilate her enemies? Were the "decadent" democracies coming apart at the seams?

No, everything was o. k. because Germany would soon launch "military operations in all directions" that would "bring the United States and Britain to their knees." Comforting though, isn't it?

Anyway, Tojo is tops in "talking" a good fight.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

"Educate and inform the whole mass of the people, enable them to see it is to their interest to preserve peace and order, and they will preserve them. They are the only sure reliance for preservation of our liberty."

It is well that we recall these words of Thomas Jefferson in observing American Education Week from November 7 to 13.

For scores of years the American public school system has stood as a bulwark protecting our liberty within the nation. And yet that very bulwark itself is now in danger of being seriously undermined.

The shortage of teachers has reached the point where many schools the nation over have failed to reopen after summer vacation. In others, there is serious overcrowding, classes are curtailed, and instructors lacking proper qualifications are employed.

One of the main reasons for this condition is the extremely low salaries paid—40 per cent of the teachers receive less than $1200 annually. A Federal subsidy has been suggested to correct this condition. Many people question if this is the answer due to the danger of dictation from Washington as to what shall be taught in our schools. Something, however, must be done.

American Education Week highlights not only the great work done by our public schools, but the imperative need of protecting these schools so that they in turn may carry on their part in the preservation of our liberty.

SHOP NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Shop NOW for Christmas!

No, not for the boys overseas—you were supposed to have done that already. Shop now for yourself and the people at home. Too early? Not by any means.

Christmas shopping this year will be somewhat different than anything we have experienced before. For one thing, war necessity has reduced the number of articles available to the public. That's understandable. Also understandable is the fact that merchants lack sufficient help to adequately carry on their normal business. When the Christmas rush gets under way there will be little they can do to expand their sales staffs.

Some hardy souls may enjoy the Christmas shopping crush with its wear and tear on their shoes and clothes. Other people may feel it is more satisfying to shop when the stores are fully decorated in their festive array. Still others "just can't bring themselves" to do their shopping until the last minute.

To all these, we say—shop now! You'll be doing yourself and the merchant a real favor. You'll have a much wider selection of goods, you'll avoid finding the stores sold out of what you want, and you will help the merchants to give you better service.

So, get yourself in a "Christmasy" mood and—shop now!

Things are looking brighter now all over the nation. Ever since the demise of the dim-out regulations on the first of the month the theme has been "Lights On!"

And the brighter lights reveal a brighter side of the war picture—that is, the overcoming of the submarine menace which made the dim-out regulation necessary a year ago last August. Remember, however, that the black-out regulations are still in force and will be applied in case of an emergency.

The brighter lights should give a real lift to everybody's morale. Broadway is coming back in all its glory. The lights of Main street have shed their blinkers and are giving out in a big way.

But the lifting of the dim-out doesn't mean that we can waste electricity. It should be used only when necessary, for electric power is vital to the war effort.

Now that the lights are on, may it never be necessary to dim them again!

Local Japanese Now in Iowa

The Campbell Press has received a copy of the Des Moines (Iowa) Sunday Register which contains several pictures of Japanese Americans who have found work in Iowa and have left relocation centers.

One of the pictures is of a recreation and reading room in the American Friends Service committee hostel, and one of the people in the picture is Henry Y. Yoshida for many years a resident of Campbell and who has numerous friends here who will be glad to know that he has left the Heart Mountain, Wyo., relocation center. The article says that he is steward at Hawkeye Post of Jewish War Veterans. Also in the picture are Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Sakamoto of San Jose. She is dietitian at the hostel.

Melvil Voge, who was again in New York after a sea voyage, wrote to his mother, Mrs. Lillian Voge, that when last in port he took examinations which he passed and now has a master's license. He is in the merchant marine with the Grace Lines and will be making other trips but when and where are, of course, military secrets.

Second class yeoman Lorne Hoerner, daughter of Mrs. Estelle Hoerner, and a graduate of Campbell high school in 1940, who enlisted in the WAVES a year ago, and now stationed in Washington, D. C., is here for a week visiting relatives and friends.

Woman's Club Guest Day Colorful Event of Monday

The Country Woman's club held its annual guest day Monday afternoon in the community hall, which had been beautifully decorated in the fall colors of yellow and russet, carried out in flowers and accented by bowls overflowing with glistening green ivy.

After opening the meeting with a cordial welcome, the president, Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke suggested that business be dispensed with for the afternoon and turned the meeting over to the committee, who opened the program with Mrs. A. W. Wellington leading in the salute to the flag and group singing of "America," with Mrs. Virginia Rutherford at the piano.

Before continuing with the program, however, members and guests rose for a moment in silent tribute to Mrs. Mary Lanphear, an honorary member who recently passed away.

The musical portion of the program began with a piano solo by Miss Nina Page, who played Chopin's well-known Nocturne in E flat major. Guilbert DuMont, music director of the high school, accompanied by Mrs. DuMont, presented two trumpet solos, Schubert's Serenade and "In the Garden of Tomorrow" by Deppen. Mrs. LeRoy Brandt, accompanied by Mrs. Rutherford, sang "Silently Into the Night" by Clare Edwards and "Birds of the Wilderness" by Edward Horsman.

The feature of the afternoon was a book review by Miss Marjorie Anderson, president County Federation of Women's clubs, who reviewed "Yesterday's Children" by Warrick. She skillfully brought out the humor and pathos of the book in a manner that delighted her listeners and kept them in gales of laughter one moment and in sober thought the next.

On the whole, it was a most delightful program, enjoyed by members and guests alike.

To end the afternoon, a dainty tea was served with Mrs. Van Dyke and Mrs. Wellington pouring, with the Misses Nina Page, Marjory Livingston, Elaine Knapp and Patricia Whitmore assisting.

Members of the committee were Miss Helen Stray, and Mesdames E. L. Farnham, J. E. Murdock, George Leigh, E. J. Bohnett, Mrs. Charles Reynolds and Mrs. David Rutherford.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"One Fair Daughter" by Bruno Frank.

Before the rise of Fascism, Bruno Frank was one of Europe's most respected and most popular writers. Today he lives in California, in exile. He is one of that small group of writers, others being Feuchtwanger, Thomas Mann and Franz Werfel, who constitute the modern German school of novelists. Frank's reputation in this country was made with the novel, "A Man Called Cervantes," which was a Book-of-the-Month Club selection several years ago.

For the scene of events in this novel, the author has chosen Poland, and the length of time includes the years from 1914 to 1939.

Elizabeth, the "fair daughter," whose career dominates the book, was born of a Jewish mother and an Austrian aristocrat, a Catholic, a Lancer whose instincts and understanding were superior to the shallow standards of his class and profession. Her mother was a Jewish stage singer of considerable ability and great loveliness.

There is love, great and burning in these pages, and there is happiness and bitter tragedy woven together with artistic skill. It is so intense it would defeat its fictional purpose were it not so firmly rooted in reality.

Elizabeth was born into a world of collapse, and through her veins ran the blood of conflict. But she surmounted her obstacles to become a woman of rare personality and beauty, and in her fate the story closes on a note of optimism and hope.

Bruno Frank has chosen an ominous scene for his new novel but he has peopled it with radiant and courageous people, long worthy of remembrance.
